Assignment Questions

1. Question: What are pre- and postconditions in software development?

A) Conditions that must be met during the software development process.

B) Conditions that must be true before an activity begins and after it is finished.

C) Steps to ensure the software meets user expectations.

D) Tools used to track the progress of software development activities.

2. Question: Which software process approach emphasizes iterative and flexible planning throughout the development lifecycle?

A) Plan-driven process

B) Waterfall model

C) Agile process

D) Spiral model